

Preventing Bullying

The purpose of the programme is to help you understand, recognise and prevent bullying behaviour. Looking at evidence from research, we will cover who may be affected, the effects of bullying and how to prevent bullying in organisations, as well as what you can do as an individual to play your part.

Preventing Bullying

This programme's four modules comprehensively cover:

- what bullying is, including the five key components of bullying behaviour
- who is affected by bullying, as there are some groups of people who are likely to be more affected than others
- the part that technology can play in bullying behaviour
- how to recognise a child who may be being bullied and the damaging physical and emotional effects
- the actions you can take to tackle bullying in your organisation or setting.
